Jordan Savitz has extensive experience in working with businesses of all sizes, including multi-owner and family-owned businesses, on mergers and acquisitions, succession planning, general corporate governance, employment, and formation assistance.

Jordan Savitz provides legal support to businesses throughout Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia, in all matters throughout the business life cycle. Mr. Savitz acts as outside general counsel for many clients, providing strategic advice and drafting services on various matters including, but not limited to, fiduciary duties, restrictive covenants, contract negotiation, operating and stockholder agreements, intellectual property rights, and license agreements. He is regularly called upon to draft, or review and negotiate, complex Master Service Agreements. In addition, Mr. Savitz advises businesses on complex succession planning strategies with internal and external targets.

Mr. Savitz also advises buyers and sellers of middle-market companies in stock, asset, and merger transactions, from pre-transaction planning – including non-disclosure agreements and letters of intent – through closing – including preparing and negotiating stock purchase agreements, asset purchase agreements, and ancillary documents.

Mr. Savitz is a trusted advisor to his clients and peers in the management of complex and sensitive disputes among owners, including dispute resolution and litigation support.
