Kevin P. LaTulip is an experienced finance attorney helping financial institutions structure and close lending and leasing transactions including synthetic leases, capital leases, other structured-finance, C&I lending and commercial real estate.

Mr. LaTulip, chair of the Financial Services Transactions Group, has more than 21 years' experience working on a broad range of commercial finance transactions.

He has handled the life cycle of transactions, from structuring, documenting and negotiating a front end transaction through closing, post-closing modification and workout. Mr. LaTulip's clients appreciate his ability to work with their customers and third parties to facilitate closings and his desire to offer creative solutions rather than roadblocks. Focusing his practice on structured finance, including synthetic leasing, Mr. LaTulip handles transactions for diverse assets including raw land, retail stores, company headquarters buildings, aircraft and rail cars. He also counsels clients on real estate matters, portfolio acquisitions and the efficient workouts of special assets.
