Kimberly Chojnacki is a catastrophic loss and complex commercial litigator representing clients in an array of industries and in state and federal courts in Houston and throughout Texas. She is also a member of Baker Donelson's 24-hour Emergency Response Team.

Ms. Chojnacki is vice chair of the Logistics, Energy, and Manufacturing Group. She represents clients in bet-the-company, high-exposure, high-profile litigation, including catastrophic and mass tort claims, complex commercial litigation, and eminent domain and condemnation proceedings. She has significant trial and appellate experience in both state and federal courts.

Ms. Chojnacki is highly regarded for the portion of her practice that centers on catastrophic loss litigation, primarily in defense of motor carriers and other corporate clients in high-profile fatalities, intentional tort losses, catastrophic personal injuries, and mass tort events. The nature of these claims requires a steady focus, both on the case at bar and the long-term implications of a given litigation maneuver. She deftly manages incident response, media engagement, and litigation with dedicated, persistent focus on the client's goals in resolving the case, whether through settlement or trial on the merits.

The balance of Ms. Chojnacki's litigation practice centers on complex commercial litigation (in instances in which resolution has implications far beyond the facts of the case) and condemnation (including all aspects of right-of-way matters for pipeline owners and operators, utilities, and other common carriers).

Ms. Chojnacki represents clients in energy transactions, including wind and solar leases and easements, battery storage leases and easements, oil and gas leases, and similar agreements. She also advises corporate clients on operational and business form agreements, commercial lease disputes, and general contract negotiations and closings.

Ms. Chojnacki is known for her insightful and thorough attention to each matter, focusing on the precise (and often minute) details on which the outcome will depend. By identifying the most critical factual and legal issues in dispute or motivating the ultimate outcome, she leverages efficient strategies and maneuvers in pursuing or defending against claims or in negotiations, saving her clients valuable time and resources.

Representative Matters

Complex Commercial Litigation

- Defending an international logistics company as a member of their preferred counsel panel handling trucking accidents in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, North Carolina, Tennessee, and Texas.
- First-chaired jury trial to a favorable resolution on behalf of a convenience store owner in Jefferson County, Texas against claims that client had negligently allowed motorists to park on public roadways. Following entry of judgment, leveraged appellate points to obtain a favorable settlement on behalf of the client.
- Second-chaired jury trial to a judgment favorable to clients, who were board members of Texas non-profit corporations affiliated with a historic local church, in a declaratory judgment action to determine the composition of the board amid allegations of mishandling of funds by the chairman and church members.

- First-chaired a bench trial for breach of contract and negligence claims against a former property management company whose employees defrauded the Department of Housing and Urban Development of more than $1.6 million through the client's low-income housing property resulting in a favorable judgment on behalf of the client.
- Represented the limited partners of a partnership against claims of breach of fiduciary duties and ultra vires acts, resulting in payment of settlement proceeds to the limited partners.
- Represented a critical infrastructure services company in a suit to quiet title, resulting in a favorable settlement.
- Briefed and argued successful motions to dismiss and for sanctions in arbitration resulting in dismissal of contract and fraud claims valued at $2.5 million in favor of revenue enhancement service provider in the health care industry.
- Represented a real estate developer against claims of fraud and breach of fiduciary obligations in relation to transactions totaling in excess of $5 million, resulting in a favorable settlement.
- Represented the former employee of a hydrocarbon industrial corporation against claims of theft of trade secrets and breach of fiduciary duties in two separate lawsuits, resulting in a walk-away settlement encompassing both suits upon the filing of anti-SLAPP dismissal motions.
- Briefed and argued against dismissal motions brought under the Texas Citizens' Participation Act relating to clients' claims for trade secret misappropriation, breach of fiduciary duties, and related claims, resulting in favorable ruling for the clients. Briefed and argued the defense of this ruling on appeal to the First Court of Appeals, resulting in a favorable opinion both in the first instance and upon en banc reconsideration.
- Defended a client in a fraud case brought by the client's former employer and valued in excess of $25 million. Successfully settled the case for less than $1 million upon the filing of dispositive motions on behalf of the client.
- Briefed and argued successful motions to dismiss on the basis of standing and failure to state claims in favor of one of the world's largest private owners of timberlands in a dispute valued in excess of $1.4 million. Briefed the defense of these motions on appeal to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals resulting in a favorable disposition.
- Represented nation's largest senior living company in the investigation of a Fair Housing Act complaint filed against it in Denver, Colorado, resulting in a favorable outcome for the client.

Transactional

- Represented a private buyer in the purchase and importation of CITES Appendix II animals from Namibia for conservation efforts, the first such successful importation to the United States on behalf of a private buyer.
- Represented executrix in share repurchase transaction valued at $1.6 million.
- Represented landowner in surface mining royalty true-up transaction.

Eminent Domain

- Assisted client in the acquisition of right-of-way for a 120-mile NGL pipeline in West Texas, including negotiations and condemnation as appropriate.
- Represented South Texas landowner in negotiations for a right-of-entry for survey in anticipation of construction of border wall.
