Veronica Pollock serves as vice president with The Daschle Group, A Public Policy Advisory of Baker Donelson.

Ms. Pollock advises a wide range of clients on public policy matters and political developments that impact businesses. She monitors and analyzes international policy developments to determine how they affect politics and commerce within the United States.

Prior to joining The Daschle Group, Ms. Pollock worked at the National Democratic Institute (NDI) managing a variety of projects across the globe. She contributed to international election observation missions, program development and management, and coordinated with international leaders on special projects. Ms. Pollock was a Peace Corps volunteer in Ukraine from 2001 to 2003, which is where she first developed her commitment to international affairs.
