Steven Passarella Jr. is a litigation associate in Baker Donelson's Princeton office.

Steve Passarella is a versatile commercial litigator committed to resolving complex disputes for his clients. He focuses his practice on commercial and health care litigation. He represents businesses and individuals in a wide array of matters, including contract disputes, business torts (such as fraud, unfair competition, and tortious interference), shareholder and partnership disputes, and insurance-related issues.

Steve works closely with clients to understand their unique challenges and delivers strategic, tailored solutions that align with their goals. His clients come from various industries, including health care, hospitality, life sciences, retail, real estate, construction, and technology. He represents clients before state and federal courts, arbitration panels, and administrative agencies.

After law school, Steve served as a judicial law clerk to the Honorable Patrick DeAlmeida of the Superior Court of New Jersey, Appellate Division. During law school, he served as a judicial extern to the Honorable Lee A. Solomon of the Supreme Court of New Jersey, and as an extern for the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.
