Baker Donelson's Personal Injury Litigation Practice Ranked First in the Nation by Best Lawyers in America

We have more attorneys listed in personal injury litigation than any other firm in the nation. Our attorneys are skilled in the critical aspects of personal injury defense. They are experienced trial lawyers who, when the circumstances dictate, are ready, willing and eager to enter the courtroom and defend the interests of our clients. Although trial skill is important, our lawyers know that each case is unique and they are ready to adapt to the needs of not only each case but each client. We strive to keep an open line of communication with our clients from the very beginning and provide timely evaluations and reports so that they possess the critical information necessary for them to be able to make informed decisions about their cases. We strive to know the client's business as well as their strategic goals so that we can work to achieve their desired outcome.
