Bill Painter and David Rueff Comment on Baker Donelson's New Jackson Office in Mississippi Business Journal

Bill Painter and David Rueff talk with the Mississippi Business Journal about the Firm's Jackson office relocating to a new, state-of-the-art office building at The District of Eastover in the fall of 2015.

"Our goal here is to build the law offices of the 21st century using a contemporary law office design," Mr. Painter said. "There will be a lot more technology, more focus on the individual environment, more interior light and less emphasis on traditional law firm features such as wood walls, long corridors and multiple office sizes."
