Baker Donelson Adds Ken McKay to Business Litigation and Energy Groups

January 21, 2016

(Houston, TX / January 21, 2016) Baker Donelson is pleased to announce the arrival of Ken McKay to the Firm's Business Litigation and Energy Groups.

Mr. McKay joins Baker Donelson as a shareholder in the Houston office, where he concentrates on commercial, energy and real estate litigation with a particular focus on eminent domain and land use matters throughout the United States. He has extensive trial experience, having first-chaired numerous jury trial victories in addition to successful arbitration proceedings in multiple states. His eminent domain practice encompasses all aspects of condemnation law and right-of-way matters, including regulatory takings and inverse condemnation claims. Mr. McKay regularly represents pipeline owners and operators, telecommunications providers, utilities and other common carriers, as well as select commercial and residential developers and landowners. His experience also includes defense of clients in high-profile lender liability and products liability trials as well as in multi-district litigation.

"Ken is a highly skilled attorney and has created a niche litigation practice, assisting companies with their most important matters throughout the country," said Bradley E. Chambers, managing shareholder of Baker Donelson's Houston office. "We are confident that our clients will benefit from his addition to our team of litigation professionals."

Baker Donelson gives clients access to a team of more than 650 attorneys and public policy advisors representing more than 30 practice areas to serve a wide range of legal needs. Clients receive knowledgeable guidance from experienced, multi-disciplined industry and client service teams, all seamlessly connected across 20 offices in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas and Washington, D.C. Ranked as the 64th largest law firm in the U.S., Baker Donelson is recognized by FORTUNE magazine as one of the "100 Best Companies to Work For."
