Baker Donelson's Health Law Group Earns Top Ten Rankings

July 19, 2016

(July 19, 2016) The Health Law Department at Baker Donelson has recently earned several honors recognizing the group as one of the leading health care practices in the United States.

- Baker Donelson earned a spot in the top ten of Modern Healthcare's "Largest Healthcare Law Firms." Baker Donelson ranked seventh in the 2016 edition of this annual listing of the largest health care law firms in the country.
- Baker Donelson was ranked fifth on the American Health Law Association's (AHLA) "Top Honors 2016" rankings of health law firms in the United States.

"These rankings recognize the significant depth and collective experience of Baker Donelson's health law practice," said Richard G. Cowart, chair of the Firm's Health Law and Government Relations Department. "The size and scale of our group gives our clients the benefits of a team with broad but detailed knowledge of their business, which is an essential advantage in successfully navigating an industry as complex and heavily regulated as health care."

With more than 100 attorneys in seven states and the District of Columbia serving the health care industry, Baker Donelson's Health Law Department is widely recognized as a premier national practice. It is ranked by Chambers USA as one of the nation's leading health law practices and is consistently ranked as one of the largest health law practices in the country. Attorneys in the Baker Donelson Health Law Department deliver a wide array of corporate, regulatory and financial services, representing leading hospitals and health systems, academic medical centers, medical device manufacturers, pharmaceutical companies, physician organizations and specialty care providers. The department also provides a full spectrum of litigation services in commercial and contract matters, antitrust disputes, regulatory and governmental issues and defense of tort cases.
