

PUBLICATION

PODCAST: Sticks & Bricks - Learn the Construction Process from the Experts [Ober|Kaler]

January 01, 2015

Michael Schollaert, a principal in Ober|Kaler's Construction and Litigation Groups, joined Maryland Construction Network for this podcast to discuss the upcoming program "Sticks & Bricks – Learn the Construction Process from the Experts."

"Sticks & Bricks" is presented by the American Bar Association's Forum on Construction Law. The program is national in scope and is presented in several cities across the country. Mike is coordinator for the Baltimore presentation.

Taught by leading industry professionals, this program presents a unique opportunity for construction lawyers and other construction industry participants to learn the key elements and terminology of all aspects of construction systems and technology - site work and foundations, structural steel, masonry, building enclosures, and mechanical, electrical, plumbing, and roofing systems. This program is designed to provide exceptional training for law firms and construction industry professionals, giving those new to construction the background information necessary to identify issues and to understand the technical context in which those issues arise.

LISTEN

This program was produced in partnership with the Maryland Construction Network and is the latest in an ongoing series presented by Ober|Kaler's Construction Group.